If you receive a lot of suspicious messages with a continuous frequency, it may indicate that you're interacting with a "bot". How

To tell if you're being spammed from the "bots" is a bit tricky. You can tell by looking at the frequency of messages. If you see a high frequency of messages, it's likely a bot.

Malware bots can be programmed to interact with users on various platforms. They can be used for a variety of purposes, including phishing and spreading malware.
